Bastrop Main Street Program

Program updates

The following items are updates on projects and activities of the Bastrop Main Street Program that relate to economic development in the community, and updates on business changes in the Main Street Program area.

Entrepreneurship Readiness Program:

The “Start Here” survey for entrepreneurs has been created, and will be added to the Main Street and BEDC websites. This lead-gathering document will inform the team of the small business owner’s stage in the launch process, and allow our specialists to assist accordingly. The accompanying entrepreneurship “Road Map” is in the proofing stages. This FAQ form will connect entrepreneurs with local resources, city and county departments and partner agencies.

Asset map and business recruitment packet

A map is being created highlighting downtown assets, and gaps in the retail mix. This will help us to create a business recruitment packet targeting businesses wishing to open a second location in Bastrop. A meeting is scheduled to gather information from property owners to assist with tenant recruitment and incentive packages.

Business Area Updates:

The Kleinart and Kesselus Buildings (910 and 912 Main Street) have sold. Viejo’s Tacos y Tequila will be moving into the new space. (The business is currently located at 811 Main Street) The Citizen’s State Bank Building at 928 Main Street has sold. The business it houses (Cripple Creek) has also sold.

Cherry Blossoms Spa has opened in their new, expanded location on 1011 Chestnut in the former Montessori School location. Owner Cindy Cordova was the 2014 winner of the Entrepreneur Business Plan Competition. A photo shoot and press release is planned to be released Friday.
The vacant building at 1007 Main Street is now on the market. The list price is $259,000.

Grant Project Updates:

Relics Jewelry & Gift Emporium is slated to finish their build out and open their doors in early September. Their space will be an artist studio, and has incubator space for four additional artisans to display their work. Renovations are near completion at the building at 711 Chestnut Street.

Main Street Activities:

- The Texas Main Street Program is launching a program to provide renderings to help communities market the key vacant buildings downtown to potential investors. This service would provide not just renderings, but also a feasibility analysis (including financing recommendations) and marketing materials. Ultimately the team plans to create a searchable website and an active network of developers and investors to which these marketing pieces can be presented. BMSP is currently working to submit properties to this registry.
- Director led program session at Texas Main Street Program New Manager Training and Professional Development Seminar in San Marcos, Aug. 4-7
- Director gave presentation about the Main Street Program and importance of downtown revitalization in the community at the Bastrop County Rotary meeting, Aug. 11
- Director attended Regional Partners site visit in Taylor, TX, July 31. Discussed vacant building ordinance, business incentive packages and façade grants.

REVENUE: Sales Tax receipts represent 96% of the total budgeted revenue for the BEDC. As such, the line graph will be a good performance indicator as a comparison of sales tax receipts of the two previous fiscal years to the current fiscal year. Due to an audit adjustment that accrues our revenue into the period it was earned, the revenue earned in October and November is an estimate. Other revenue is included within the line graph to include Lease Agreement Income, Interest Income, and Miscellaneous Income.

The spikes reflected on the graph in FY2014 are tied to specific transactions. These include the reimbursement of expenses from the Combination Tax and Revenue Certificates of Obligation, Series 2013 in February 2014 of $102,638; and the transfer from Bond Fund proceeds to cover debt service costs in May 2014 of $200,261. The spike in the graph in September 2013 reflects the sale of land for $93,475.

Line graph chart reflects monthly revenue incurred for three fiscal years. FY2013 includes October 1, 2012 thru September 30, 2013. FY2014 includes October 1, 2013 thru September 30, 2014. FY2015 reflects revenue received year-to-date for October 1, 2014 thru September 30, 2015. Data provided by City of Bastrop Finance Department records.

Preface

Date of Study
The effective date of this study is July 20, 2015.

Purpose of Study
The purpose of this report is to analyze the City of Bastrop, evaluate its position with respect to current and anticipated market trends and conclude with an analysis of market feasibility for future multi-family apartment development in the City of Bastrop. This analysis is intended to explore the feasibility of new apartment construction on several possible sites in the City of Bastrop.

Function of the Report
This report is to be utilized by Mr. Steve Mills, the Bastrop Economic Development Corporation and other interested parties to provide information on the market feasibility of building new multi-family apartment units in Bastrop, Texas.

Property Identification
There are multiple identified sites for the planned multi-family units that will be located in the City of Bastrop, Texas.

Assumptions
1. The consultant assumes that all information and data provided by the client, the City of Bastrop and Bastrop County are correct with respect to the availability of utilities, zoning and conformance with city building codes.

2. All statements of fact in the report that are used as the basis of consultant’s analyses, opinions and conclusions are true and correct to the best of consultant's knowledge and belief. Methodology
A feasibility study is a general term, implying analysis aimed at discovering whether or not a specific project can be carried out successfully, with success usually indicating a sufficient return on capital.
required to attract investors to carry out the development. This requires two basic and interdependent analyses: a market study to determine supply, demand and potential absorption rates, and a financial analysis to determine whether or not the proposed project can be economically justified over a given period of time. This market study primarily addresses the market demand, obtainable rents and absorption issues and will be used in combination with more detailed financial feasibility studies conducted by the client to determine overall project feasibility.
GENERAL AREA ANALYSIS
Employment Growth for Austin MSA

Historically, employment growth in Austin has shown considerable volatility, primarily as a result of national and international trends which have had a pronounced effect on the local economy. In 1996 the pace of employment growth seen in the early nineties slowed as a result of the worldwide glut of computer chips and concerns about the collapse of the Asian stock markets. The market regained momentum between 1998 and 2000, but the explosive growth experienced in 2000 evaporated with the national dot.com bust in 2001, and the Austin MSA actually experienced negative job growth in 2002 and 2003. As the economy began its recovery in 2003 job loss was minimal, and 14,500 jobs were added in 2004. The pace of growth picked up over the next three years, peaking at 35,000 jobs added in 2007, a 4.84% annual increase. For a period of time in late 2007 and early 2008 it appeared that Austin might not be affected by the national housing crisis, but eventually the lack of credit for new lot construction, retail chain expansions and business inventory additions resulted in a decrease in new job creation in the local economy, which diminished to (-16,700) in 2009. However, the economy began a modest recovery in 2010 with 10,600 jobs added and gained momentum in 2011, with 25,400 jobs added. This job growth was sustained through 2012 with the addition of 31,100 jobs, as well as in 2013 and 2014 in which job growth averaged 4.12%. The most recent (April 2015) employment forecast shows the economy continuing its positive trajectory in 2015 and 2016 with an average increase of 35,600 jobs a year, with job growth continuing at a slightly slower rate into 2017 and 2018. Table (1) on the following page provides recent employment statistics and projections for the Austin MSA. Forecasted annual increases in the Austin MSA employment for 2015 through 2025 are expected to average 2.16%. The forecast shown is from Moody’s, Economy.com, Austin MSA Employment Forecast, April 20, 2015.

MSA Apartment Demand

Rapid population growth in Austin and other U.S. cities is almost always attributable to the immigration of people from other areas, often because of job opportunities. The demonstrable growth in employment and an unemployment rate of 3.0% for the Austin MSA (April 2015) means that as new jobs are created, people will move into the region to take those jobs.

The table below provides an estimate of new rental units needed as a result of the job increases anticipated over the next ten years. Based on recent building permit data, we have estimated multi-family unit demand to be 92.11% of the total rental unit demand and will average 6,816 units per year from 2015 through 2025.

Bastrop General Area Analysis

Bastrop, Texas is the county seat of Bastrop County, located just 30 miles southeast of downtown Austin where State Highways 71, 21, and 95 merge. Its surrounding landscape is characterized by rolling hills and prairie land, and the County is bisected by the Colorado River, which flows from northwest to southeast. Bastrop County is one of five counties included in the Austin Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA), and the city of Bastrop is significantly influenced by the MSA’s rapid growth.

In 1804, Spanish Governor Manuel Antonio Cordero y Bustamante established a fort along the Colorado River, where Bastrop is now located. The German Baron de Bastrop began planning a community at this site, although it was not until 1830—after significant Native American resistance was overcome and a land grant was received from the Mexican government—that the town of Bastrop was officially founded. Although Stephen F. Austin is credited with obtaining the land grant, the city was named for the Baron.

A fire in downtown Bastrop destroyed a majority of the city’s structures in 1862, including the County Courthouse. Therefore, most of the city’s buildings date after the Civil War. In 1979, the National Register of Historic Places included 131 Bastrop buildings and sites in its listing—earning Bastrop the designation of “Most Historic Small Town in Texas.” Today, its downtown is characterized by locally owned antique shops and boutiques, art galleries, and a wide array of dining opportunities.

In 1913, oil was discovered in the areas surrounding Bastrop, followed by years of testing and drilling throughout the County. Although a handful of oil reserves were developed, the land around Bastrop remained primarily agricultural, and later, the County experienced significant increases in cattle production. The city’s population stagnated and then declined between 1920 and 1940, and while Bastrop saw a brief economic renaissance during the World War II years, the continuing shift from crop production to beef-cattle caused the population to reach a low in 1960. However, the strategic location of the City on State Highway 71 and State Highway 95 and the economic benefits of being the County seat of government caused both population and employment to gradually increase. As of the 2010 U.S. Census, the population in the City of Bastrop has more than doubled since the 1960s, growing to 7,218 people.

In 2011, Bastrop County suffered the most destructive wildfire epidemic in Texas history, with nearly 1,700 homes lost and more than 34,000 acres of land charred, including the area’s signature Loblolly pine forests. However, extensive recovery and rebuilding efforts have allowed Bastrop’s economy to grow quickly following the fire. A majority of citizens affected by the fire have chosen to rebuild within Bastrop, and the city has initiated efforts to protect its historic and residential areas from future fires.
Bastrop Employment Profile

The Austin Region has been very successful in competing for and capturing a number of high-tech and service oriented companies. Eastern Travis County has been especially attractive for high-tech, manufacturing and distribution companies because of the relatively low land cost and accessibility offered by the extensive highway network. Bastrop County has also shown strong employment growth in a diversity of companies that include “primary industry” employers in addition to a growing retail and medical services component. Based on data (2015) provided by the Bastrop Economic Development Corporation and employer surveys, the City of Bastrop and the surrounding market area currently contains approximately 6,638 jobs at 45 major employers. The Bastrop market area’s largest employer is Bastrop ISD, which employs approximately 1,383, followed by Hyatt Regency Lost Pines Resort with 749, Bastrop County with 446, the University of Texas Science Parks with 420 and Wal-Mart with 356.

Just west of Bastrop is the Hyatt Regency Lost Pines Resort and Spa. This hotel has 500 rooms and employs approximately 762 people, many of whom would likely move to the market area if more rental housing were available. Also of note is the recent opening of Buc-ee’s (with 195 employees) and several national “chain” stores including Academy, Best Buy, Lowe’s, Ross, Staples and TJ Maxx, further establishing the City of Bastrop as the regional retail center for the eastern part of the Austin MSA. As many new retailers continue to work towards full staffing levels, the new Burleson Crossing shopping center continues to expand, adding additional major retailers such as Hobby Lobby, Ulta, and Five Below, as well as two new restaurants. In addition, the HEB recently expanded to an HEB Plus, increasing square footage and employees.

In late 2014, JAMCO (Johnson Architectural Metal Co.), a Georgia based Construction Company, opened their Texas regional headquarters facility in the Bastrop Industrial Park, and a 30,100 square foot manufacturing facility. JAMCO currently employs 89 people in the market area. The Coghlan Group is currently expanding their presence in the Industrial Park, with a new 60,000 facility. Two new additions to the Bastrop Industrial Park, Good Soul Brewing Company and Elliott Electric Supply, are finalizing building plans and will be breaking ground in the near future, adding between ten to twenty five employees to the area. Another major employer that entered the market in 2014 is Elgin based Southside Market & Barbeque, which employs 86 people in their newly constructed restaurant and meat market.

According to the US Census’s 2011 LODES (Origin - Destination Employment Statistics) data, Bastrop County has a total of 11,874 primary jobs, mainly concentrated around the City of Bastrop and the City of Elgin. A table of Major Employers (Table (3)) as well as a map of job concentration are shown on the following pages.

Population Trends and Projections

Table (4) presents historical population growth and five and ten year projections for the Austin MSA, Bastrop County and the City of Bastrop. The historical statistics come from the US Census; projections are based on the Texas State Data Center, (Scenario 2000-2010), June 2015. The historical data shows a substantial growth in the area between 2000 and 2010 with the Austin MSA growing 37.33%, Bastrop County growing 28.47% and the City of Bastrop growing 35.17%. Between 2000 and 2010, the Austin MSA added 466,526 people, Bastrop County added 16,438 people, and the City added 1,878 people, accounting for 11.4% of the growth in Bastrop County. According to the State Data Center Scenario 1.0, the Austin MSA is forecasted to grow to 2,653,615 by 2025 and Bastrop County is expected to grow to 118,785.

Household Size Trends

Household size trends from the 2000 Census through the 2010 US Census are found in Table (5) below. The average household size in the Austin MSA increased very slightly 0.3% from 2.57 to 2.58. Bastrop County increased very slightly as well from 2000 through 2010 by 0.3%, from 2.77 to 2.78. In the City of Bastrop, the household size was slightly lower, at 2.46 in 2000, but has increased 0.8% through the 2010 Census to reach 2.48. The lower household size in the City of Bastrop is most likely due to the higher percentage of renter households than the county as a whole, which generally have fewer people per household. This increase in household size reflects a decrease in the number of single occupant households, and an increase in the average family size among households that have more than one family member.

Housing Tenure

Table (6) presents trends in household tenure from the 2000 through the 2010 US Census. The number of renters in Bastrop County increased by 50.39% from 2000 through 2010 and increased by 55.02% in the City of Bastrop. The percentage of renters in Bastrop County increased in the 2000s by 16.97%. The percentage of renters in the City of Bastrop increased by 17.0% between 2000 and 2010, with renter households comprising 45.3% of the total households in 2010. The increase in renter households in Bastrop is partially due to the completion of 360 multi-family units in the City of Bastrop between 2000 and 2010.

Bastrop County Market Area Multi-Family Housing Demand

Table (7) below shows a multi-family demand forecast for the market area based on population forecasts generated by the Texas State Data Center (Scenario 1.0) based upon historic migration rates for the market area. The Bastrop County Market Area captured 3.52% of the growth in the Austin MSA from 2000 – 2010, which was used to generate the population forecast for the market area. The proportion of renter households is based on the change in tenure split for the market area from 2000 to 2010. The proportion of multi-family units is based upon historical building permit data in the Austin MSA for the past 10 years. The resulting forecast yields an average demand of 191 units per year from 2015 through 2020.

APARTMENT MARKET ANALYSIS
Apartment Market Trends in the Austin MSA

Traditionally, apartment projects in Austin have been clustered near activity centers, major employers and the university areas. Examples of this phenomenon include the cluster of apartments near IBM, Dell, Abbott Labs and Seton Hospital as well as the apartments surrounding the University of Texas, St. Edwards University, and the various Austin Community College campus locations. In the recent past, the Central Business District has had relatively few residential rental units. However, since 2009 and 2010, several new communities were developed within the area, with construction continuing into 2014.

Market conditions in the Austin area multi-family market were volatile in the eighties, when an apartment construction boom caused dramatic overbuilding in 1985 and 1986, followed by several years of inactivity. After dropping to 80% occupancy in the mid-eighties, occupancy rates steadily increased, and by 1990, rapid rent escalation was underway. However it was not until 1993 that overall market rental rates were high enough to support widespread construction activity.

As Austin’s economy experienced robust growth in the early nineties, the resurgence of multi-family construction began in 1991 when 148 units were constructed and 220 units were absorbed. At that time citywide occupancy was at 93.7% and apartments leased for an average $0.57 per square foot. From that period through mid-1996, average rent per square foot and absorption accelerated dramatically. Occupancy first peaked in December 1994 at 97.4%, and then again in June 2000 (at 98.2%), while new unit completions peaked in 1996 at 6,405 units and then again at 8,472 in 2001. Since 1996, the pace of new construction fluctuated from year to year but both occupancy and average rental rates increased steadily through the end of 2000.

In 2001, for the first time in many years, new unit completions dramatically exceeded absorption and the market plunged from 97.6% in January to 90.0% by the end of the year. Rents dropped precipitously, but the building continued into 2002, in spite of the softness in the market, and by 2003 the construction boom was tapering off.

Current Market Conditions

Beginning in late 2003, new construction activity began to diminish and regional apartment demand regained strength which resulted in the positive absorption trend through 2004, 2005, 2006 and 2007. However, in 2008 the market occupancy rate decreased 5.2 percentage points from 2007, with additional drops in 2009 occupancy (90.4%) and rental rates ($0.93). December 2010 and 2011 saw a rapid recovery, and by 2012, rental rates had increased again to $1.12, a $0.07 increase since December 2011, and occupancy also increased to reach an astonishing 97.4%. Current (December 2014) rental rates have climbed to $1.26, and occupancy has dropped slightly to 94.0%. Since the beginning of 2002, 72,194 apartment units in 288 complexes were completed. There were 7,704 net units added between 2010 and 2012, including new units, renovations added back into inventory, and those units removed from inventory due to either a condo conversion or demolition. In 2013, developers added 6,087 net units, and in 2014, 10,123 new units were added, the highest number of units added in a calendar year since 1987.
Between 2000 and 2003, net unit completions exceeded unit demand (measured by absorption), but in 2004 and 2005, the situation reversed and unit demand exceeded net unit completions. The lack of new construction in these years allowed existing units to be absorbed by the market. This trend continued until 2008, when 8,404 net units were added but only 1,526 units were absorbed, and in 2009 unit demand began to recover with 9,025 units added and 6,750 absorbed.

From 2010 through 2013, absorption was very strong as net units added were consistently less than unit demand. However, the most recent CMR survey (December 2014) shows 10,371 net units added in 2014, the most new units added in the area in a calendar year for over 20 years. This increased rate of construction, cumulating with the opening of nine new projects in November and December (when leasing activity is traditionally lower because of the holiday season), resulted in a lower than expected net absorption rate of 4,279 units and a decline in occupancy to 94.0%. Further analysis of the data revealed a disproportionate strength of demand for new units added. Among those new (2014) units, 8,980 units were leased (85.2%), while the existing (older) inventory lost 4,659 units of occupancy, revealing a tenant preference for the new product, in spite of the higher rental rates. Table (6), on the following page, provides apartment market conditions from December 1991 through December 2014. Historical data on occupancy, average rent, unit completions and absorption for 1991 through 2014 is taken from CMR’s Austin Apartment Survey, a semi-annual survey of all projects of more than 50 units in the Austin area.

Bastrop Market Area Apartment Market Conditions

Overview

In July 2015, CMR surveyed the 6 apartment communities in Bastrop that have a total of 604 units. Currently, the average rental rate is at $1.02 per square foot, which is 13.3% higher than the average in December 2013 when it was $0.90 per square foot. Occupancy rates average 98.2%, down slightly from 2013, when occupancy was 98.8%. There has been no new construction in the market area since 2012; the additional units added in 2015 are attributed to an older property that was added to the current inventory.

New Construction

New construction in the Bastrop market area has been very slow, with units being delivered in only 2 of the last 15 years. The newer completions in the market area are two market rate projects, Lodge at Lost Pines (2002) and Walnut Ridge Apartments (2009). In 2002, 160 units were completed at the Lodge at Lost Pines, which is currently achieving an average rental rate of $1.11 per square foot, while maintaining an average occupancy of 99.4%. Walnut Ridge, the 200-unit project completed in 2009, is currently achieving an average rental rate of $1.14 per square foot with a 95.0% occupancy rate.

Occupancy

Currently, the occupancy rate in Bastrop is 98.2%, with the four older apartments, including two affordable, 100% occupied. The high occupancy rate reflects the strength of demand for rental units in Bastrop which is generated by a growing local economy and the location of the City within an easy (20 minute) commute to SH-130 on the east side of Austin. The appeal of small town living and lower rental rates than Austin, combined with the ease of commuting west towards major employers, has made Bastrop an ideal place to rent.

Average Rents

Average rental rates (net rents including concessions) in the Bastrop market area have increased in the past two years by 13.3%, currently reaching $1.02. However, when you take into account that the majority of the market area is dominated by older and income restricted properties, with limited amenities, it becomes clear that the market area averages do not accurately reflect the potential for a new higher quality project. The two market rate properties, completed in 2002 and 2009, are currently achieving an average gross rental rate of $1,035 and $1.13 per square foot.

Market Outlook

The Bastrop market area is currently served by older, smaller apartment complexes with limited amenities and (some) income restrictions. This has caused the market area average rent per square foot to remain low. In contrast, the newer communities, which have more amenities, are able to demand higher rental rates. The steady pace of new employment expansion in Bastrop attests to the pro-growth attitude of the community and reflects the significance of the retail and service sectors as well as a growing complement of basic industries. As the retail offerings expand, and the employment base continues to grow, the demand for new rental housing in the market area will continue to increase.

Potential Sites for Development

Currently (July 2015), the overall occupancy rate in the Bastrop market area is 98.2%. Given the high occupancy rate and absence of new units, under construction or planned, there is room in the market area to develop a new apartment project at an appropriate site. Recent interviews with the City of Bastrop Economic Development Corporation and the Planning & Development departments revealed several sites that may be suitable for apartment development.

Table (11) lists the potential sites, their location, size and zoning. The map and text on the following pages further characterize each potential site.

Bastrop Grove is located south of State Highway 71 and just east of Texas 304. The 52.68 acre tract has frontage on SH 71, with additional pad sites available.

A 9.35 acre site, part of the Hunter’s Crossing PID, was recently purchased by the developer of the Lodge at Lost Pines Apartment for future apartment development. This purchase then negates the opportunity for the site due west to also be developed into apartments, due to the restriction on this site which was a contingent condition for the first sale. Further information about the development timeline and project details are not known at this time.

Erhard Legacy Partners LTD owns two sites north of State Highway 71, a 12.91 acre site east of the Burleson Crossing Shopping center, and another larger 52.68 acre tract between McCoy’s Building supply and Edward Burleson Lane. These sites are currently under evaluation by HPI Residential as potential future apartment sites, and the 12.91 is currently under option to the Durhman & Bassett Realty Group for potential retail development.
One additional site north of State Highway 71 identified by Capitol Market Research is located just east of the existing Settlement Estates apartment project. The parcel, 23.04 acres, is currently privately owned with a single family home close to the Highway.

Pecan Park is a 64.48 acre site under development as a single family home subdivision, owned by Duke McDowell of Sterling Custom Homes. However, a portion of the site could be considered for multi-family use if it were subdivided appropriately and zoned for multi-family use.
SUMMARY AND CONCLUSIONS
Summary and Conclusion

The City of Bastrop currently contains 604 apartment units in 6 apartment communities, of which four are market rate and two are “income restricted” communities. The overall average rent per square foot for the Bastrop market area as of July 2015 is $1.02 with an average total rent of $890. The market area occupancy among the six projects was 98.2%, with four of the six properties being 100% occupied. The average unit size is 876 square feet, which is comparable to the 880 square foot average in the City of Austin, and reflects the lower density character of the existing inventory and a unit mix that has a higher percentage of one and two bedroom units.

New construction in the Bastrop market area has been very slow, with new units being delivered in only 2 of the last 15 years. The newer completions in the market area are two market rate projects, Lodge at Lost Pines (2002) and Walnut Ridge Apartments (2009). In 2002, 160 units were completed at the Lodge at Lost Pines, which is currently achieving an average rental rate of $1.11 per square foot, while maintaining an average occupancy of 99.4%. Walnut Ridge, the 200-unit project completed in 2009, is currently achieving an average rental rate of $1.14 per square foot with a 95.0% occupancy rate.

Using a population forecast obtained from the Texas State Data Center for the Austin MSA (Scenario 1.0), CMR established that Bastrop County captures 3.52% of growth in the Austin MSA. In addition the 2000 and 2010 U.S. Census revealed that the percentage of renters as a proportion of the new households has been growing steadily, increasing at an average rate of 0.33% per year. Using the proportion of total rental units in apartment communities of 93.6% yields an average annual demand of 191 units from 2015 through 2020, enough to support one new 200-unit apartment community per year.

Currently there are no concrete plans for new apartment development in Bastrop. While the apartment occupancy rate and employment growth indicate a need for new apartment units, the historical low average rents would not support the cost of new construction; however, the recent increases in average rent seen in the two new market rate projects has re-kindled interest in new construction. After conversations with the City of Bastrop Economic Development Corporation and Planning and Development departments, CMR has identified and mapped six potential sites for new apartment development. Two of these sites, Hunter’s Crossing and a site off of Hwy 71/Burleson Road, are currently under initial evaluation for apartment development. The additional sites, all much larger, would need to be subdivided and rezoned in order to accommodate new apartment construction. All six sites are west of the Colorado River Bridge and the Highway 71 construction that is slated to start in the near future, which would avoid the traffic congestion for those who commute from East Bastrop to work in areas west of the city, such as Austin.

Based on the foregoing data and analysis provided in this report, it seems reasonable to assume that a smaller market rate apartment community, west of the Colorado River Bridge, would perform well with residents who live and work in Bastrop, or who prefer living in a small town within easy commuting distance to the major employers in Austin. Given the recent rental rates obtained by the new market rate projects in Bastrop, it is possible that a new apartment community in Bastrop could achieve rental rates at or above $1.15 per square foot.

Subject: Proposal for Market Assessment and Demand Analysis of Healthcare Services

Dear Johnny:

Per your conversation(s) with Wilson Weber and Cindy Matthews, this proposal letter is intended to outline the process by which Community Hospital Consulting (“CHC Consulting”), the management and consulting arm of Community Hospital Corporation (“CHC”), would engage with Bastrop city officials and key stakeholders to evaluate the appropriate care delivery model for the community.

OBJECTIVE
The objective of the project is to prepare a study identifying the appropriate level of healthcare services needed in the area. By evaluating potential demand for various inpatient and outpatient services, these findings would ultimately serve as a platform for discussions with local stakeholders regarding the potential viability of opening a local hospital with inpatient beds.

OUR APPROACH
For this project, CHC Consulting will follow the steps outlined below:

Phase 1: Community Perspective
- Conduct 10-15 one-on-one interviews with representatives from the City, community leaders and healthcare providers.
- Create and oversee a community survey to evaluate consumer perceptions regarding health needs in the community. The survey methodology could include electronic, telephone or mail.

Phase 2: Market Assessment and Demand Study
- Work with City management, community leadership, healthcare providers and other stakeholders to identify the target market area(s) for study.
- Collect and analyze demographic information available for the target market(s), including age, gender, education, income level, and population growth projections.
- Determine and evaluate the payer composition for the market(s), estimating the payer mix (managed care, other insurance, governmental programs, private pay) that may be experienced by an inpatient hospital.

- Collect and analyze information on trended utilization of inpatient services in the market area as available (i.e. inpatient discharges, average lengths of stay, etc.)

- Collect and evaluate market share information as available for hospitals in the region and determine out-migration patterns of hospital utilization.

- Collect and evaluate growth projections for inpatient and outpatient services by assumed service lines for the target market(s).

- Estimate bed need for the population of the target market(s) compared to local and national benchmarks.

- Create inpatient and outpatient volume and growth assumptions.

- Evaluate physician supply and demand for the target market(s).

Phase 3: Facilitation of Strategic Relationships
- Assist in identifying potential healthcare providers.

DELIVERABLE
The deliverable at the conclusion of the project will be a written report documenting the data collection, analysis and findings of the engagement as well as recommendations for next steps. Additionally, a presentation would be provided summarizing the results of the overall study to designated stakeholders.

PROFESSIONAL ARRANGEMENTS

Professional Fees and Expenses. The professional fees for this Proposal are detailed in Schedule A.

Billing Procedures. CHC Consulting will bill for its services in two equal installments as outlined above and as further defined in the Standard Terms and Conditions. The first invoice is payable upon execution of the Proposal Letter.

Direct out-of-pocket expenses as noted in Schedule A will be billed as incurred with payment due within ten (10) business days.

Additional Services. Any additional services requested and not noted in this proposal may be provided at an additional cost, to be mutually agreed upon in writing at the time of the request.
